

BARRY CONTROLS

DEFENSE & INDUSTRY
Antivibration

Q: Can isolators be subjected to multidirectional loading?

A: All of our isolators are designed to accommodate dynamic loads in all axes, even if they are only recommended for axial static load support. How they perform “off axis” depends largely on the stiffness ratio of the mounts in their different axes, the payload center of gravity location with respect the mounting plane and its principle mass moments of inertia.